CountryWest GermanyLanguageGerman Devil Hunter (also known as The Man Hunter, Mandingo Manhunter, Jungfrau unter Kannibalen and Sexo Canebal) is a directed by Jess Franco under the pseudonym Clifford Brown and written by Franco and Julion Esteban (under the pseudonym Julius Valery). He was turned back to back with Mondo Cannibal de Franco (also 1980). It is one of the infamous video nastiness that was banned in the UK in the 1980s. Lina Romay co-directed this while Nicole Guettard, Franco's first wife, edited it. This shows that Franco was with Guettard as late as 1980 (finally they broke up and she was replaced in Franco's life by Romay). Pierre Chevalier was the artistic director of this film. Released The film was released on December 5, 1980 in West Germany under the name Jungfrau unter Kannibalen, and in Spain under the name Sexo Canibal. It was released in cinemas in the United States, the United Kingdom and Italy under the name The Man Hunter, but was later released on video in the United Kingdom under the name Devil Hunter. He also appeared on the American video as Mandingo Manhunter. It was banned as a nasty video in the UK in the early 1980s. Reception review Devil Hunter was critically panned. Kurt Dahlke of DVD Talk called it a horrible, dreck essay piece that should have remained legendary and lost. That said, it's quite fun. VERDICT DVD, too, called the movie trash and writing that the story is threadbare and the characters are idiots (the horrible dubbing makes their dialogue endlessly entertaining), but Jess Franco does not hesitate to blow up the nipples and bloodshed.
